

You will need:

- Coloured paper: orange, brown and green
- Cardboard
- Kitchen paper tube
- Small paper tube
- Tape
- Popsicle stick
- White paint
- Pencil/ Marker
- Scissors
- Paper glue
- Quick drying strong glue or glue gun

1. Glue the treehouse template to the orange paper and ask a grown-up to help you cut out all the shapes.

2. Carefully fold along the dashed lines so the house starts to take shape. Take your time so that the paper doesn't crack.

3. Working with one roof section at a time, and one tab at a time, glue all the roof sections together.

4. Glue on the separate triangle piece to close the roof.

5. Using a pencil trace around the floor template on the cardboard and orange paper. Cut out the two squares and glue them together.

6. Glue the floor piece inside the house - a nice solid base for the squirrels to play on.

7. Next we make the grass base. Cover a large piece of cardboard with green coloured paper and leave aside.

8. To make a nice tall tree trunk cut the small paper tube along one side and join it around one end of the kitchen paper tube with sticky tape, as the picture shows.

9. Cover the paper tube trunk with the brown coloured paper.

10. Next glue the house to the the tree trunk with your strong glue or glue gun and let it dry. Then glue the trunk to the base.

11

11. Now for the steps - follow the step template, cut out five pieces of cardboard and glue around the tree trunk, as shown.

12

12. Cut off the ends of the popsicle stick and glue between the tree trunk and base of the house for extra stability.

13

13. Now to make the tree top - using the cloud pattern, cut out two pieces of green coloured paper. Glue together on each side.

14

14. Dip your fingertips in white paint to add detail to your tree top.

15

15. Now for the finishing touch - glue the crown over the top of the trunk.
